Passports Without Tears
When business or pleasure demands a trip abroad, obtaining the required driver's license or an international passport, visa or an international driver's license can turn the matter taken out of their hands, a New York-based company called Passport Plus—around the country—will gladly oversee the task of procuring or amending these vital documents. Clients of the company, notes director bankers, performers, network personnel and anyone else "with more positive things to do than wait in line for up to six hours at the Passport Office."
The company's services range from providing while-you-wait regulation passport photos at $7.50 to obtaining same-day emergency passport renewals at $150. Next-day passport renewals are $100, 48-hour service is $65 and one-week service is $50. The company accomplishes these services by dispatching its personnel—armed with your original or renewal application, photos and fee—to the Passport Office, where they handle all the details.
Passport Plus will also pick up airline tickets in midtown Manhattan and offer complimentary pick-up and delivery for customers in the immediate Rockefeller Center area. In Manhattan, deliveries are at nominal rates. Outside Manhattan, deliveries cost $20 and up. Reduced rates are available for families and other groups. For further information contact:
